

1 Michael A. Mugmon (SBN: 251958)
2 michael.mugmon@wilmerhale.com
3 WILMER CUTLER
4 PICKERING HALE AND
5 DORR LLP
6 950 Page Mill Road
7 Palo Alto, CA 94304
8 Telephone: +1 650 858 6000
9 Facsimile: +1 650 858 6100

10 Attorney for Amici Curiae

11
12
13
14
15
16
17
18
19 20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
SAN FRANCISCO DIVISION

CITY OF SAN JOSE, a municipal corporation; and BLACK ALLIANCE FOR JUST IMMIGRATION, a California nonprofit corporation

Plaintiffs,

v.

WILBUR L. ROSS, JR., in his official capacity as Secretary of the U.S. Department of Commerce; U.S. DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE; RON JARMIN, in his official capacity as Acting Director of the U.S. Census Bureau; U.S. CENSUS BUREAU

Defendants.

Case No. 3:18-cv-02279-RS

BRIEF OF THE LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE ON CIVIL AND HUMAN RIGHTS, THE LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE EDUCATION FUND, MUSLIM ADVOCATES, THE BRENNAN CENTER FOR JUSTICE AT N.Y.U. SCHOOL OF LAW, NATIONAL COALITION ON BLACK CIVIC PARTICIPATION, NALEO EDUCATIONAL FUND, ET AL., AS AMICI CURIAE IN SUPPORT OF PLAINTIFFS

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES

Page(s)

FEDERAL CASES

1
2
3
4 Bartlett v. Strickland,
5 556 U.S. 1 (2009)..... 12
6 Clapper v. Amnesty Int’l USA,
7 568 U.S. 398 (2013)..... 3, 7
8 Fed’n for Am. Immigration Reform (FAIR) v. Klutznick,
9 486 F. Supp. 564 (D.D.C. 1980)..... 4
10 Gray v. Sanders,
11 372 U.S. 368 (1963)..... 9
12 Matter of A-B-,
13 27 I. & N. Dec. 316..... 7
14 Thornburg v. Gingles,
15 478 U.S. 30 (1986)..... 2

LEGISLATIVE MATERIALS

16 Attorney General Nomination: Hearing Before the S. Comm. on the Judiciary,
17 115th Cong. (Jan. 10, 2017) (statement of Sen. Jeff Sessions)..... 11
18 Enumeration of Undocumented Aliens in the Decennial Census: Hearing
19 Before the Subcomm, on Energy, Nuclear Proliferation, & Gov’t
20 Processes of the S. Comm. on Governmental Affairs, 99th Cong. (1985)
21 (statement of John Keane, Dir., Bureau of the Census),
22 <http://www.loc.gov/law/find/hearings/pdf/00172011883.pdf> ..... 4
23 Progress Report on the 2020 Census: Hearing Before H. Comm. on Oversight
24 & Gov’t Reform, 115th Cong. (2018) (statement of Vanita Gupta,
25 President & CEO, The Leadership Conference on Civil and Human 26 Rights), http://civilrightsdocs.info/pdf/testimony/VG-house-OGR-
27 statement-5-8-18.pdf..... 15
28 Progress Report on the 2020 Census: Hearing Before the H. Comm. on Oversight & Gov’t Reform, 115th Cong. (2018) (statement of John M.
Gore, Acting Assistant Att’y Gen., U.S. Dep’t of Justice),
https://oversight.house.gov/wp-content/uploads/2018/05/Gore-
DOJ\_Testimony-2020-Census-Hearing-05182018.pdf..... 13

1 Progress Report on the 2020 Census: Hearing Before the H. Comm. on
 2 Oversight & Gov’t Reform, 115th Cong. (2018) (testimony of Justin 3 Levitt, Professor, Loyola Law School), https://oversight.house.gov/wp-
 4 content/uploads/2018/05/Levitt-Testimony-2020-Census-Hearing-
 5 05082018.pdf ..... passim

6 OTHER AUTHORITIES

7 Arthur, Rob, Latinos in Three Cities Are Reporting Fewer Crimes Since
 8 Trump Took Office, Three Cities Are Reporting Fewer Crimes Since
 9 Trump Took Office, FiveThirtyEight (May 18, 2017),
 10 https://fivethirtyeight.com/features/latinos-report-fewer-crimes-in-three-
 11 cities-amid-fears-of-deportation/ ..... 7

12 Artiga, Samantha & Anthony Damico, Kaiser Family Foundation, Nearly 20
 13 Million Children Live in Immigrant Families that Could Be Affected by 14 Evolving Immigration Policies (2018), http://files.kff.org/attachment/Data-
 15 Note-Nearly-20-Million-Children-Live-in-Immigrant-Families-that-
 16 Could-Be-Affected-by-Evolving-Immigration-Policies ..... 9

17 Fishkin, Joseph, The Administration is Lying About the Census, Balkinization
 18 (Mar. 27, 2018), https://balkin.blogspot.com/2018/03/the-administration-
 19 is-lying-about-census.html ..... 13

20 Glenn, Heidi, Fear of Deportation Spurs 4 Women to Drop Domestic Abuse
 21 Cases in Denver, NPR (Mar. 21, 2017),
 22 https://www.npr.org/2017/03/21/520841332/fear-of-deportation-spurs-4-
 23 women-to-drop-domestic-abuse-cases-in-denver ..... 7

24 Letter from Arthur E. Gary, General Counsel, DOJ, to Ron Jarmin, U.S.
 25 Census Bureau (Dec. 12, 2017), https://www.courthousenews.com/wp-
 26 content/uploads/2018/02/doj-census.pdf ..... 11

27 Lewis, Brooke A., HPD Chief Announces Decrease in Hispanics Reporting
 28 Rape and Violent Crimes Compared to Last Year, HOUSTON CHRONICLE
 (Apr. 6, 2017), https://www.chron.com/news/houston-
texas/houston/article/HPD-chief-announces-decrease-in-Hispanics-
11053829.php ..... 7

Mathema, Silva, Keeping Families Together: Why All Americans Should Care
About What Happens to Unauthorized Immigrants, Center for American Progress (Mar. 16, 2017),
https://www.americanprogress.org/issues/immigration/reports/2017/03/16/
428335/keeping-families-together/ ..... 7

1 Memorandum from Center for Survey Measurement, U.S. Census Bureau, to 2 Associate Directorate for Research and Methodology (“ARDM”):
 3 Respondent Confidentiality Concerns (Sept. 20, 2017),
 4 <https://www2.census.gov/cac/nac/meetings/2017-11/Memo-Regarding-Respondent-Confidentiality-Concerns.pdf> ..... 4

5 Memorandum from Ron S. Jarmin, Director, U.S. Census Bureau, to Barbara
 6 Anderson, Chair, Census Scientific Advisory Comm.: U.S. Census Bureau Responses to Census Scientific Advisory Committee Fall 2017 Recommendations (Jan. 26, 2018),
 7 <https://www2.census.gov/cac/sac/meetings/2017-09/2018-01-26-census-response.pdf> ..... 5

8 Meyers, Mikelyn & Patricia Goerman, U.S. Census Bureau, Respondent Confidentiality Concerns in Multilingual Pretesting Studies and Possible Effects on Response Rates and Data Quality for the 2020 Census 25 (May 2018) (presentation at 73rd Annual Conference of the American Association for Public Opinion Research (AAPOR)),
 9 <https://census.gov/content/dam/Census/newsroom/press-kits/2018/aapor/aapor-presentation-confidentiality.pdf>..... 6

10
 11
 12
 13 Meyers, Mikelyn, U.S. Census Bureau, Respondent Confidentiality Concerns and Possible Effects on Response Rates and Data Quality for the 2020 Census (Nov. 2, 2017) (presentation at National Advisory Committee on Racial, Ethnic, and Other Populations Fall Meeting), 14 <https://www2.census.gov/cac/nac/meetings/2017-11/Meyers-NAC-Confidentiality-Presentation.pdf>..... 6

15
 16
 17 Persily, Nathaniel, The Law of the Census: How to Count, What to Count, Whom to Count, and Where to Count Them, 32 Cardozo L. Rev. 755, 759 (2011)..... 14

18
 19 Reamer, Andrew, GW Institute of Public Policy, Counting For Dollars 2020: The Role of the Decennial Census in the Geographic Distribution of Federal Funds, Report # 2: Estimating Fiscal Costs of a Census Undercount to States (2018),
 20 <https://gwipp.gwu.edu/sites/g/files/zaxdzs2181/f/downloads/GWIPP%20Reamer%20Fiscal%20Impacts%20of%20Census%20Undercount%20on%20FMAP-based%20Programs%2003-19-18.pdf> ..... 8

21
 22
 23
 24 Robbins, Liz & Katie Benner, Documents Show Political Lobbying in Census Question About Citizenship, N.Y. Times (June 9, 2018), 25 <https://www.nytimes.com/2018/06/09/nyregion/kobach-bannon-lobbying-census-question-on-citizenship-documents.html> ..... 12

26
 27
 28 Shapiro, Robert, Trump’s Census Policy Could Boomerang and Hurt Red States as Well as Blue States, Brookings (Mar. 30, 2018), <https://www.brookings.edu/blog/fixgov/2018/03/30/trump-census-harms-red-blue-states/> ..... 9

1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
11
12
13
14
15
16
17
18
19 20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28

Supplemental Memorandum by Secretary of Commerce Wilbur Ross
Regarding the Administrative Record in Census Litigation (June 21, 2018)..... 11

U.S. Census Bureau, Decennial Census and the American Community Survey
(ACS), <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/census-ac.html> ..... 10

Urahn, Susan K., et al., The Pew Charitable Trusts, The Children’s Health Insurance Program: A 50-state examination of CHIP spending and enrollment (2014), http://www.pewtrusts.org/~media/assets/2014/10/childrens\_health\_insurance\_program\_report.pdf..... 9

1 INTERESTS OF AMICI

2 Amici are organizations committed to the protection of civil and human rights in the United
3 States.<sup>1</sup> What unites this coalition is an interest in ensuring that all communities—particularly the 4 young children, women, immigrants, low-income communities, and communities of color whom 5 amici represent—continue to enjoy the recognition, freedom, and economic and political power to 6 which they are entitled under the U.S. Constitution. The government’s addition of a citizenship
7 question to the 2020 census gravely threatens to undermine that goal. What is more, the government
8 cynically invokes our communities’ purported interests as its justification for a policy that 9 jeopardizes those interests.

10 Amici know very well: A fair and accurate 2020 census is a critical civil rights issue. The 11 constitutionally-mandated census is central not only to apportioning political power at every level of 12 government, but also to shaping the annual allocation of more than $800 billion in federal funding,
13 along with countless policy and investment decisions by government agencies, nonprofit
14 organizations, and private enterprise. Given its foundational importance to American government
15 and society, the census must be above partisan politics. The misguided decision to reverse 70 years
16 of consistent census practice and insert an untested citizenship question damages our communities,
17 undermines the integrity of the count, and violates the Census Bureau’s constitutional and statutory 18 duties to conduct a full enumeration of the U.S. population.

19 SUMMARY OF ARGUMENT

20 Amici have spent decades advocating, educating the public, and litigating about issues
21 concerning full and equal participation in the American political process, and so have vast 22 knowledge and experience concerning the census and the uses to which it has been—and should 23 be—put. This brief addresses several issues on which defendants have staked their defense of the 24 citizenship question and as to which amici are uniquely equipped to provide guidance to this Court.

25 First, defendants contend that plaintiffs lack standing because inclusion of the citizenship
26 question will not suppress response rates or lead to an undercount, and that in any event the 27 deleterious effects plaintiffs allege will follow from an undercount are all speculative and contingent.

28 _____
<sup>1</sup> This brief does not purport to convey the position of the New York University School of Law.

1 Amici and our constituencies have spent decades in the field, working with communities to ensure
2 full participation in the census. Our experience and the findings of social scientists and other census
3 experts all confirm that including the citizenship question will lead to depressed participation,
4 particularly among families that include immigrants, young children, and people of color. Indeed,
5 the current reactions in our communities to the prospect of a citizenship question that amici are 6 witnessing first-hand fully support plaintiffs' standing. Moreover, contrary to the government's 7 claims, the history of the census does not disprove the inevitably damaging effects of including a
8 citizenship question on the 2020 census. In truth, the last census to have asked all respondents to 9 indicate their citizenship was in 1950, prior to the enactment of the Voting Rights Act and path-
10 marking Supreme Court decisions confirming core constitutional protections for equal voting rights
11 and political representation.

12           Second, defendants contend—cynically and incorrectly—that inclusion of the citizenship
13 question is necessary to ensure proper enforcement of the Voting Rights Act. That claim should be 14 rejected. As we know from our own experience, the Voting Rights Act has been enforced 15 effectively throughout its history notwithstanding the absence of a citizenship question on the 16 census. Including the question now for the first time would only hinder, not assist, Voting Rights
17 Act enforcement.

ARGUMENT

I. Plaintiffs Have Standing To Challenge The Citizenship Question On The Basis Of Injuries That The Question Is Inflicting—And Will Continue To Inflict—On The Communities Amici Represent

Plaintiffs have standing to challenge defendants’ decision to include a citizenship question on the 2020 census because that decision exposes plaintiffs to present and “certainly impending” harms. Clapper v. Amnesty Int’l USA, 568 U.S. 398, 409 (2013). The injuries of which Plaintiffs complain—including a differential undercount resulting in under-allocations of federal funding—are the direct product of injuries that the citizenship question is imposing and will continue to impose on the historically under-represented minorities, young children, and other vulnerable populations that amici represent and on whose behalf amici advocate.

Inclusion of a citizenship question will inevitably lead to a differential undercount of historically under-represented communities. The injury plaintiffs allege is neither hypothetical nor strictly prospective: pre-testing shows that the mere possibility of a citizenship question has already diminished response rates and increased anxiety over participation in the census among large segments of the communities we represent. This inevitable undercount will lead to a loss of federal funding for the Plaintiff City of San Jose (San Jose) and other jurisdictions where historically under-represented communities reside. Plaintiff Black Alliance for Just Immigration (BAJI) will be forced to allocate funding in order to combat the detrimental effects of adding a citizenship question, significantly limiting its other necessary initiatives. These harms are directly traceable to defendants’ default of their constitutional duty to perform an “actual Enumeration” of the population in the United States and the resultant violation of the Equal Protection Clause.

A. Inclusion Of A Citizenship Question Will Result In An Undercount Of The Communities Amici Represent

Inclusion of a citizenship question on the 2020 census will result in a differential undercount of the communities we represent. This is an intolerably anti-democratic result, which is entirely avoidable.

1 The Census Bureau has long opposed adding a citizenship question to the census to avoid a
2 systematic undercount of immigrant communities. For example, in 1980, the Bureau opined that
3 “any effort to ascertain citizenship will inevitably jeopardize the overall accuracy of the population
4 count. ... Questions as to citizenship are particularly sensitive in minority communities and would 5 inevitably trigger hostility, resentment and refusal to cooperate.” Fed’n for Am. Immigration Reform
6 (FAIR) v. Klutznick, 486 F. Supp. 564, 568 (D.D.C. 1980) (describing Bureau’s litigation position).
7 The Director of the Census Bureau confirmed that judgment in congressional testimony in 1990,
8 explaining that census questions about citizenship status would lead to the Census Bureau’s being 9 “perceived as an enforcement agency,” and that such a perception would have “a major effect on 10 census coverage.”<sup>2</sup>

11 The Bureau’s longstanding opposition to the inclusion of a citizenship question is well-
12 founded, as information recently disclosed by the Bureau confirms. As reflected in the 13 administrative record filed in this case, career Census Bureau personnel have recently highlighted
14 differential response rates to past American Community Survey (ACS) and long-form census
15 questionnaires for households with noncitizens versus households with citizens (AR 1280-1281), and 16 they have emphasized the additional nonresponse expected in 2020 in light of the inclusion of a 17 citizenship question (AR 1282, 1305, 1312). The Census Bureau’s own data from its Center for 18 Survey Measurement (CSM) further demonstrate that if a citizenship question is added to the census,
19 formerly willing respondents will go to extraordinary lengths to avoid participating in it.<sup>3</sup>

20 Prior to the addition of the citizenship question, the Bureau had compiled substantial 21 information showing the problems it was having with non-citizen response. CSM conducted pre-
22 testing after the Census Scientific Advisory Committee expressed concerns “about the possibility 23 that 2020 could be politicized” and about the privacy of the information collected by the decennial
24
25

26
27 <sup>2</sup> Enumeration of Undocumented Aliens in the Decennial Census: Hearing Before the Subcomm., on Energy,
Nuclear Proliferation, & Gov’t Processes of the S. Comm. on Governmental Affairs, 99th Cong. 16, 23, 32 (1985)
(statement of John Keane, Dir., Bureau of the Census).

28 <sup>3</sup> Memorandum from Center for Survey Measurement, U.S. Census Bureau, to Associate Directorate for Research and Methodology (“ARDM”): Respondent Confidentiality Concerns (Sept. 20, 2017) (“CSM Memo”).

1 census.<sup>4</sup> Through multiple methods, including Internet self-response, cognitive inquiry via the 2 Census Barriers, Attitudes and Motivators Survey, doorstep messages, and field representatives and
 3 supervisors interacting with focus groups, CSM concluded that an unprecedented number of 4 respondents raised issues concerning confidentiality and immigration status while participating.<sup>5</sup>
 5 Respondents also largely refused to share their own information with Bureau employees after 6 expressing these privacy and safety concerns, and CSM saw extremely high levels of “deliberate
 7 falsification” of information on the Internet self-response instruments due specifically to 8 respondents’ express concerns regarding revealing immigration status to the Census Bureau.<sup>6</sup> CSM
 9 declared that its findings are “particularly troubling given that they impact hard-to-count populations
 10 disproportionately, and have implications for data quality and nonresponse.”<sup>7</sup>

11 CSM’s recent memorandum also included vivid examples that highlight the lengths to which 12 members of under-represented communities will go to avoid responding to the census if a citizenship
 13 question is included. One Spanish-speaking field representative, for example, “observed Hispanic
 14 members of a household move out of a mobile home after she tried to interview them. She said,
 15 ‘There was a cluster of mobile homes, all Hispanic. I went to one and I left the information on the 16 door. I could hear them inside. I did two more interviews, and when I came back, they were moving
 17 . . . . It’s because they were afraid of being deported.’”<sup>8</sup> Another field representative was left alone 18 in an apartment when a respondent eventually walked out of an interview after shutting down and 19 refusing to answer questions concerning his citizenship status.<sup>9</sup> And in one instance, an English-20 speaking respondent declared, “The immigrant is not going to trust the Census employee when they
 21 are continuously hearing a contradicting message from the media everyday threatening to deport
 22 immigrants.”<sup>10</sup>

23
 24
 25 <sup>4</sup> Memorandum from Ron S. Jarmin, Director, U.S. Census Bureau, to Barbara Anderson, Chair, Census
 Scientific Advisory Comm.: *U.S. Census Bureau Responses to Census Scientific Advisory Committee Fall 2017
 Recommendations* (Jan. 26, 2018).

26 <sup>5</sup> CSM Memo at 1-2.

27 <sup>6</sup> Id. at 3.

28 <sup>7</sup> Id. at 7.

<sup>8</sup> Id. at 5.

<sup>9</sup> Id.

<sup>10</sup> Id. at 4.

1           These anecdotes are illustrative. Amici’s experience confirms that the prospect of a 2 citizenship question on the census has raised already high levels of anxiety in the immigrant
 3 communities and communities of color that we represent and will undoubtedly lead to an undercount
 4 of members of these same communities. Arturo Vargas, the Executive Director of the NALEO
 5 Education Fund, and a long-time member of the U.S. Census Bureau’s National Advisory 6 Committee on Racial, Ethnic, and Other Populations, has seen firsthand the mounting anxiety in 7 these under-represented communities. In a focus group organized by NALEO, one participant stated
 8 explicitly that the current Administration is “using the census as part of a strategy. They want to 9 know people’s status and their names. The government will make you fill out a form to tell them if 10 you are not legal. They want to clear the U.S. of people without papers. That’s why they are asking 11 about citizenship.”<sup>11</sup>

12           The prospect of a citizenship question is already altering the behavior of potential
 13 respondents in our communities. A May 2018 Census Bureau presentation observed that 14 participants in various language focus groups had expressed concerns about the citizenship question,
 15 which “may have a disproportionate impact on an already ‘hard to count’ population: immigrants.”<sup>12</sup>
 16 The presentation confirmed that these concerns were not merely speculative. Rather, the presentation 17 recounted specific statements and incidents attesting to the “unprecedented ground swell in 18 confidentiality and data sharing concerns, particularly among immigrants or those who live with 19 immigrants,” which were likely to “present a barrier to participation in the 2020 census,” could 20 “impact data quality and coverage for the 2020 census,” and are “[p]articularly troubling due to the 21 disproportionate impact on hard-to-count populations.”

22           The fears that members of the communities amici represent are feeling over giving the 23 government information about their citizenship arise amidst an all-out assault on immigrants by the 24

25 <sup>11</sup> Vargas Decl. ¶ 9, June 7, 2018 (attached as Exhibit A). See also Meyers, U.S. Census Bureau, Respondent
 26 Confidentiality Concerns and Possible Effects on Response Rates and Data Quality for the 2020 Census at 9, 10, 12
 27 (Nov. 2, 2017) (presentation at National Advisory Committee on Racial, Ethnic, and Other Populations Fall Meeting)
 (reporting results of pre-testing focus groups including that, for example, “[t]he immigrant is not going to trust the Census employee when they are continuously hearing a contradicting message from the media every day threatening to deport immigrants”).

28 <sup>12</sup> Meyers & Goerman, U.S. Census Bureau, Respondent Confidentiality Concerns in Multilingual Pretesting
Studies and Possible Effects on Response Rates and Data Quality for the 2020 Census 25, (May 2018) (presentation at 73rd Annual Conference of the American Association for Public Opinion Research (AAPOR)).

1 United States government that has placed undocumented persons and their (often citizen) families at 2 risk. In recent weeks, the Trump Administration has doubled down on its “zero tolerance” policy
3 towards undocumented immigrants. President Trump has explicitly advocated for deporting
4 undocumented persons without due process of law.<sup>13</sup> These concerns about the government’s
5 hostility to immigrants will directly affect both citizens’ and noncitizens’ response rates, as more
6 than 5.9 million U.S. citizen children reside with at least one undocumented immigrant,<sup>14</sup> leading to 7 fears that parents or other family members will be deported or detained if they fill out the census.
8 These recent episodes come after reports of domestic abuse victims not appearing in court for fear
9 that they might be deported<sup>15</sup> and Hispanics and Latinos reporting fewer crimes since President
10 Trump took office.<sup>16</sup> The results of the Census Bureau’s research therefore reinforce a disconcerting
11 pattern of behavior among immigrant and minority groups: the communities we represent fear the 12 federal government, and their response is to recoil from any interaction with public officials. In the 13 case of the 2020 census with a citizenship question, this will mean not responding at all.

14 The Supreme Court held in Clapper that a plaintiff lacks standing when his injury rests on “a 15 highly attenuated chain of possibilities[.]” 568 U.S. at 410. There is no attenuation here. As the 16 Census Bureau has recognized for decades, and as recent, concrete evidence confirms, inclusion of a
17 citizenship question will have the inevitable—indeed, intended—effect of diminishing the response
18 rates not only of undocumented persons, but also of U.S. citizens and lawful permanent residents
19 who nonetheless fear the implications for their families and communities of furnishing information
20 concerning citizenship. The concrete harms plaintiffs identify—which flow directly from that 21 predictable undercount—amply satisfy Article III’s requirements of a certain or impending injury.

22
23
24
25 <sup>13</sup> See Rucker & Weigel, Trump Advocates Depriving Undocumented Immigrants of Due-Process Rights, Washington Post (June 25, 2018).

26 <sup>14</sup> See Mathema, Keeping Families Together: Why All Americans Should Care About What Happens to Unauthorized Immigrants, Center for American Progress (Mar. 16, 2017).

27 <sup>15</sup> See Glenn, Fear of Deportation Spurs 4 Women to Drop Domestic Abuse Cases in Denver, NPR (Mar. 21, 2017); see also Matter of A-B-, 27 I. & N. Dec. 316.

28 <sup>16</sup> See, e.g., Arthur, Latinos in Three Cities Are Reporting Fewer Crimes Since Trump Took Office, FiveThirtyEight (May 18, 2017); Lewis, HPD Chief Announces Decrease in Hispanics Reporting Rape and Violent
Crimes Compared to Last Year, Houston Chronicle (Apr. 6, 2017).

1           B.           The Systematic Undercount Of The Communities Amici Represent Will
 2           Result in Plaintiffs’ Districts Suffering A Direct Loss of Federal Funding

3           It is not speculation that the undercount of the communities we represent will result in a loss
 4 of federal funding for San Jose and other jurisdictions in California, depriving them of access to 5 federal programs upon which they rely. At least 300 financial assistance programs created by 6 Congress rely on census-specific data to apportion hundreds of billions of dollars to state and local
 7 governments.<sup>17</sup> Although not all of these programs use headcount data derived from the decennial
 8 census, they often rely on surveys calibrated based on the decennial census, or other data collected in 9 the census, such as age.<sup>18</sup> Any undercounting of the population will thus skew the collection of 10 demographic data used in federal funding determinations and affect the distribution of funds to 11 jurisdictions in which plaintiffs’ community members reside, harming the federal programs upon 12 which they rely.

13           A study of the impact of a census undercount on the federal funding formula for several of 14 the largest programs confirms this point. The Federal Medical Assistance Percentage (FMAP) is 15 used to determine the federal share of the costs of Medicaid, the State’s Children’s Health Insurance
 16 Program (CHIP), the Child Care and Development Fund Matching Funds, and the Title IV-E Foster
 17 Care and Adoption Assistance programs. Reamer Report 2. In Fiscal Year 2015, FMAP controlled
 18 the allocation of 48% of the federal grants given to States by the federal government. Id. That year,
 19 the average amount lost by a State was $1,091 per person missed in the 2010 census; the highest loss
 20 was in Vermont, where the state forfeited $2,309 per person missed in the decennial census. Id. at 1.

21
 22
 23
 24
 25
 26
 27 <sup>17</sup> Reamer, GW Institute of Public Policy, Counting For Dollars 2020: The Role of the Decennial Census in the 28 Geographic Distribution of Federal Funds, Report # 2: Estimating Fiscal Costs of a Census Undercount to States 2
 (2018) (“Reamer Report”).

<sup>18</sup> Id.

1 According to the study, even a 1% increase in an undercount can have a dramatic effect on States’
2 receipt of federal grants for these FMAP-guided programs. Id.<sup>19</sup>

3 That a differential undercount will affect the distribution of federal funding is indisputable.
4 It is also demonstrable that the deleterious funding effects of an undercount will fall most heavily on 5 those jurisdictions that have above-average shares of low-income individuals, including California,
6 where plaintiffs’ community members reside.<sup>20</sup> Thus, as the data confirm, any undercount resulting 7 from inclusion of a citizenship question will itself cause tangible harms, including loss of access to 8 federal programs for plaintiffs’ community members, due to a lack of federal funding.

9 C. The History Of The Citizenship Question Does Not Undermine Plaintiffs’
10 Claim of Injury

11 Defendants attempt to sidestep plaintiffs’ allegations of injury by arguing that including a 12 citizenship question on the 2020 Census represents no material break from the Census Bureau’s past
13 practice. Defendants’ argument is meritless.

14 The last time all census respondents were asked to provide their citizenship information was 15 in 1950—before the passage of the Voting Rights Act, when communities of color were 16 systematically undercounted and underrepresented, and before the Supreme Court recognized,
17 among other things, the “one person, one vote” principle that undergirds contemporary voting rights
18 jurisprudence. See Gray v. Sanders, 372 U.S. 368 (1963).

19 Since the passage of the Voting Rights Act—the very statute on which defendants base their 20 rationale for adding a citizenship question—most respondents to the census have not been asked to 21 provide any citizenship information. From 1960 until 2010, most census respondents received a
22 short-form census questionnaire that did not include any question about citizenship. A small portion 23

24 <sup>19</sup> The consequences for children living in plaintiffs’ states are particularly severe. States with significant 25 undercounts will also suffer reductions in funding for programs such as CHIP, the Children’s Health Insurance Program,
26 which is funded based on census data, depriving many children in their states of essential health care or other services.
27 See Urahn, et al., The Pew Charitable Trusts, The Children’s Health Insurance Program: A 50-state examination of CHIP spending and enrollment (2014); see also Artiga & Damico, Kaiser Family Foundation, Nearly 20 Million Children Live in Immigrant Families that Could Be Affected by Evolving Immigration Policies 2 (2018) (“Over 8 million citizen children with an immigrant parent have Medicaid/CHIP coverage. ... Recent findings indicate that growing fear and uncertainty among immigrant families is leading to decreased participation in Medicaid and CHIP.”).

28 <sup>20</sup> Shapiro, Trump’s Census Policy Could Boomerang and Hurt Red States as Well as Blue States, Brookings
(Mar. 30, 2018).

1 of respondents—approximately one in six households—received a long-form questionnaire, which
2 included a citizenship question mixed in with a battery of other personal questions, ranging from
3 questions about mode of entry into the house to the extent of its kitchen facilities.<sup>21</sup> In 2005, the 4 long-form census questionnaire was largely displaced by the American Community Survey (ACS),
5 which the Census Bureau launched as a monthly data-gathering exercise to collect continuous,
6 consistent nationwide demographic data.<sup>22</sup> As a result, the 2010 census was a “short-form only”
7 census, and the same is expected for the 2020 census.

8 Defendants also attempt to leverage the ACS’s citizenship question to demonstrate (MTD 9 29) that “citizenship questions have a long and established history in the census.” That argument is 10 deceptive. Including a citizenship question in a lengthy survey sent only to a representative sample
11 of households is not comparable to including a citizenship question in the short list of questions
12 asked of every individual in the country. As Professor Justin Levitt explained in recent testimony
13 before Congress, “[i]n the context of a lengthy and detailed survey like [the ACS], with questions 14 that many view as quite personal (and hence asked only of a sample of the population at any one 15 time), a question about citizenship does not tend to stand out overmuch.” Levitt Testimony 5. The 16 purpose of the 28-page ACS is not to count the population, but to “understand[] who and where 17 Americans are, what we do, and how we live.” Id. In contrast, the census is designed to “be short,
18 simple, and minimally intrusive, in order to maximize response rates” and thus conduct an “actual 19 Enumeration.” Id. Response rates or reactions to questions featured on one questionnaire are 20 therefore not indicative of how respondents would react to questions on a different questionnaire.<sup>23</sup>
21 The comparison on which defendants rely does not withstand scrutiny.

22
23
24
25 <sup>21</sup> See Progress Report on the 2020 Census: Hearing Before the H. Comm. on Oversight & Gov’t Reform, 115th
Cong. 3, 4 (2018) (testimony of Justin Levitt, Professor, Loyola Law School) (“Levitt Testimony”).

26 <sup>22</sup> See U.S. Census Bureau, Decennial Census and the American Community Survey (ACS).

27 <sup>23</sup> Moreover, as explained further below, if an individual receiving the ACS does not answer the question (or the survey as a whole), there are a number of common statistical techniques that can and do compensate. See infra Section
III.B. In other words, suppressed response rates on the ACS do not cause any systemic data problem. That is simply not 28 true with the census: Statistical imputation is permitted in some limited circumstances, but there are precious few ways to compensate for nonresponse in an enumeration. Thus, the consequences of nonresponse are more serious, and less remediable, on the decennial census than on the ACS. Levitt Testimony 16.

1       II.       A Citizenship Question On The Decennial Census Will Undermine, Not Aid, Our
 2       Communities’ Ability To Vindicate Their Rights Under The Voting Rights Act

3       Notwithstanding the differential undercount that including a citizenship question will 4       predictably cause and its disparate effect on the minority communities that amici represent,
 5       defendants cynically seek to justify inclusion of a citizenship question as “critical to the [Justice]
 6       Department’s enforcement of Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act.”<sup>24</sup> Defendants’ sudden interest in 7       enforcement of the Voting Rights Act is not credible. The current Administration’s Justice
 8       Department has not brought a single enforcement action under the Voting Rights Act. Indeed, 9       Attorney General Jeff Sessions has gone so far as to express the belief that the Voting Rights Act is 10      “intrusive.”<sup>25</sup> A recently released memorandum from Commerce Secretary Wilbur Ross further 11      confirms that the stated rationale of enforcing the Voting Rights Act is pretextual. The 12      memorandum demonstrates that the Commerce Department was considering the addition of a 13      citizenship question before receiving a request from the Department of Justice. In fact, Secretary
 14      Ross asked the Justice Department to consider requesting such a question.<sup>26</sup>

15      Defendants’ invocation of the Voting Rights Act to justify including a citizenship question is 16      not only pretextual, but also meritless, for at least two reasons. First, the Justice Department and 17      private plaintiffs—including amici—have successfully litigated claims under the Voting Rights Act
 18      using available citizenship data ever since enactment of the Voting Rights Act in 1965. During that 19      more than half century, courts have not required citizenship data obtained from the decennial census
 20      in Voting Rights Act cases. Second, as plaintiffs have alleged (Compl. ¶¶ 63, 114), such a question
 21      will in fact run directly counter to the purposes of the Voting Rights Act by diluting their votes and 22      causing the decennial census to undercount the very minority communities—our communities—who

26      <sup>24</sup> Letter from Arthur E. Gary, General Counsel, DOJ, to Ron Jarmin, U.S. Census Bureau, at 1 (Dec. 12, 2017)
 (cited at MTD 7).

27      <sup>25</sup> Attorney General Nomination: Hearing Before the S. Comm. on the Judiciary, 115th Cong. (Jan. 10, 2017)
 (statement of Sen. Jeff Sessions).

28      <sup>26</sup> Supplemental Memorandum by Secretary of Commerce Wilbur Ross Regarding the Administrative Record in Census Litigation (June 21, 2018).

1 are supposed to be among the primary beneficiaries of the Voting Rights Act and who rely upon the
2 Voting Rights Act to vindicate their rights.<sup>27</sup>

3 A. The United States And Private Plaintiffs Have Effectively Enforced The 4 Voting Rights Act Without Census Citizenship Data For Over 50 Years

5 Based on decades of experience, amici can authoritatively say: Citizenship data from the 6 decennial census has never been necessary to enforce the Voting Rights Act and is not necessary 7 now.

8 In order to proceed with a claim that minority voters' votes have been diluted, a plaintiff 9 must demonstrate, among other things, that the minority group is "sufficiently large and 10 geographically compact to constitute a majority in a single-member [voting] district" if the districts
11 were drawn differently; that the minority group is "politically cohesive"; and that "the white
12 majority votes sufficiently as a bloc to enable it ... usually to defeat the minority's preferred
13 candidate." Thornburg v. Gingles, 478 U.S. 30, 50-51 (1986). Because Voting Rights Act plaintiffs 14 bear the burden of establishing these preconditions, data about citizenship status may be used in vote
15 dilution litigation for a variety of purposes. For example, data about the "citizen voting-age
16 population" (CVAP) may be used to generate a picture of the local electorate to show that members 17 of the minority group vote together as a bloc, that they are regularly defeated in the current electoral 18 configuration, or that they would be numerous enough to elect candidates of choice if the districts
19 were drawn differently. And, in cases in which plaintiffs are successful in proving discriminatory
20 vote dilution, courts may use CVAP data to fashion an effective remedy. Levitt Testimony 16.<sup>28</sup>

21 While CVAP data may be useful in vote dilution cases, in the 53 years that the Department of 22 Justice and private plaintiffs have enforced Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act, they have never tried 23

24 <sup>27</sup> The administrative record makes clear that this was in fact the primary objective behind adding the citizenship
25 question. The record reveals that Kansas Secretary of State Kris Kobach, a sponsor of numerous forms of anti-26 immigration legislation, lobbied to add the citizenship question to the 2020 census at the suggestion of Steve Bannon, former White House Chief Strategist, for the very purpose of ensuring that "aliens" are not "counted for congressional apportionment purposes." See Robbins & Benner, Documents Show Political Lobbying in Census Question About Citizenship, NY Times (June 9, 2018).

27 <sup>28</sup> Notably, the Supreme Court has never held that CVAP data is required to establish a vote dilution claim under § 28 2. To the contrary, the Court has suggested that mere "voting-age population" data may be sufficient. See *Bartlett v.
Strickland*, 556 U.S. 1, 18 (2009) (holding that the first Gingles precondition requires courts to ask: "Do minorities make up more than 50 percent of the voting-age population in the relevant geographic area?" (emphasis added)).

1 to obtain CVAP data from the decennial census. That is because such data can be reliably obtained
2 from other sources—without the negative effects of including a citizenship question in the census.
3 From 1970 to 2005, litigants bringing Section 2 claims could obtain CVAP data from the “long
4 form” census, and from 2005 to the present, CVAP data has been obtainable from the ACS. See
5 Levitt Testimony 16. That data has amply sufficed to facilitate Voting Rights Act enforcement
6 without running the risk of suppressing census response rates from under-represented communities.

7 Defendants argue (MTD 6) that collecting citizenship data in the decennial census would
8 benefit Voting Rights Act plaintiffs because it would generate CVAP data at a more granular level
9 than the ACS—at the “block level” rather than the “block group level.” It is irrelevant to Voting
10 Rights Act plaintiffs that the decennial census could generate CVAP data at the block level because 11 they are already able to make their cases with existing data. Defendants’ claim ignores the fact that 12 experts can still translate that data to the block level using statistical imputation. See Levitt
13 Testimony 16. More importantly, such granular CVAP data is unnecessary in most Section 2 cases
14 because courts primarily use that data to determine whether minority groups can effectively mobilize
15 in a district. That end determination is necessarily an estimate that depends on a variety of data in 16 addition to CVAP, including rates of voter eligibility, registration, and turnout—all of which have 17 corresponding margins of error.<sup>29</sup>

18 The meritless nature of defendants’ argument is underscored by the fact that in all of the 19 Section 2 cases brought by the Justice Department over the past 18 years—across both Republican
20 and Democratic administrations—“there is not one of these cases in which a decennial enumeration
21 would have enabled enforcement that the existing survey data on citizenship did not permit. Indeed,
22 not one of these cases has realistically been close to the line.” Levitt Testimony 18 & n.77
23 (gathering cases). Acting Assistant Attorney General John Gore confirmed this assessment during 24 his testimony before Congress, in which he was unable to identify a single Justice Department
25 enforcement action that was hampered by currently available citizenship data.<sup>30</sup> In short, existing 26

27
28 <sup>29</sup> See Fishkin, The Administration is Lying About the Census, Balkinization (Mar. 27, 2018).

<sup>30</sup> See Progress Report on the 2020 Census: Hearing Before the H. Comm. on Oversight & Gov’t Reform, 115th Cong. (2018) (statement of John M. Gore, Acting Assistant Att’y Gen., U.S. Dep’t of Justice).

1 citizenship data available from the ACS has proven more than adequate for enforcement of Section 2
2 of the VRA.

3 B. Collecting Citizenship Data Would Hinder The Communities Amici
4 Represent—Primary Beneficiaries Of The Voting Rights Act—In 5 Vindicating Their Rights

6 Even setting aside the adequacy of current citizenship data for Section 2 enforcement, adding
7 a citizenship question would not help the communities that amici represent vindicate their rights
8 under the Voting Rights Act. Indeed, it would have precisely the opposite effect. As described 9 above, any greater precision in citizenship data obtained through the decennial census would come at 10 the expense of significantly undercounting minority populations who are reluctant to answer the 11 2020 census. Because the ACS is administered as a survey, experts can use sampling and other 12 statistical techniques to compensate for nonresponse rates. See Levitt Testimony 6-7. By contrast, 13 federal law and Supreme Court precedent significantly limit the techniques that can be used to 14 compensate for undercounting on the decennial census. Id. at 20; see also Nathaniel Persily, The 15 Law of the Census: How to Count, What to Count, Whom to Count, and Where to Count Them, 32
16 CARDOZO L. REV. 755, 759 (2011). In short, even if addition of a citizenship question could lead to 17 more precise citizenship data for those who respond, it will inevitably lead to less accurate
18 citizenship data that differentially undercounts the very minority populations who rely on that data to 19 bring Voting Rights Act claims.

20 Including a citizenship question on the 2020 census would therefore hobble, not bolster, the 21 ability of minority groups to prove vote dilution under Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act. Rather 22 than helping minority groups prove their Section 2 claims, a citizenship question on the decennial
23 census would lead to undercounting precisely those individuals needed to show cohesive minority
24 populations. See Levitt Testimony at 20. Defendants' justification for the citizenship question is 25
26
27
28

1 therefore a red herring. Any greater precision in citizenship data will hurt Voting Rights Act
2 plaintiffs because it will come at the cost of missing information and an inaccurate 2020 census.<sup>31</sup>

3 CONCLUSION

4 For the foregoing reasons, defendants’ motion to dismiss should be denied.

5 DATED: July 24, 2018

6 Respectfully submitted,

7 By: /s/ Michael A. Mugmon
8 Michael A. Mugmon (SBN: 251958)
9 michael.mugmon@wilmerhale.com
10 WILMER CUTLER PICKERING
11 HALE AND DORR LLP
12 950 Page Mill Road
13 Palo Alto, CA 94304
14 Telephone: +1 650 858 6000
15 Facsimile: +1 650 858 6100

16 Attorney for Amici Curiae

17
18
19 20
21
22
23
24
25 <sup>31</sup> See Progress Report on the 2020 Census: Hearing Before H. Comm. on Oversight & Gov’t Reform, 115th
26 Cong. 4-5 (2018) (statement of Vanita Gupta, President & CEO, The Leadership Conference on Civil and Human 27 Rights) (“This decision would affect everyone, with communities that are already at greater risk of being 28 undercounted—including people of color, young children, and low-income rural and urban residents—suffering the most
... . During the final years of the Obama administration, I was the Justice Department official responsible for overseeing voting rights enforcement. I know firsthand that data from the ongoing American Community Survey were sufficient for us to do our work. Rigorous enforcement of the Voting Rights Act has never required the addition of a citizenship question on the census form sent to all households.”).

APPENDIX: LIST OF AMICI

1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
11
12
13
14
15
16
17
18
19 20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28

- The Leadership Conference on Civil and Human Rights
- The Leadership Conference Education Fund
- Muslim Advocates
- National Association of Latino Elected and Appointed Officials Educational Fund
- National Coalition on Black Civic Participation
- 4CS of Passaic County
- Advocates for Children of New Jersey
- AgeOptions
- American Anthropology Association
- American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO (AFSCME)
- American Federation of Teachers
- American Muslim Health Professionals
- American Society on Aging
- Andrew Goodman Foundation
- Anti-Defamation League
- Arab American Institute
- Arkansas Advocates for Children and Families
- Asian & Pacific Islander American Health Forum
- Asian American Legal Defense and Education Fund (AALDEF)
- Asian Americans for Community Involvement
- Asian Law Alliance
- Asian Pacific American Labor Alliance
- Asian Pacific Islander Americans for Civic Empowerment (APACE) – Washington
- Bend the Arc: A Jewish Partnership for Justice
- Bhutanese Community Association of Pittsburgh (BCAP)
- California Pan-Ethnic Health Network
- Center for Law and Social Policy (CLASP)

- 1 Center for Popular Democracy
- 2 Central Conference of American Rabbis
- 3 Chinese-American Planning Council
- 4 Christian Methodist Episcopal Church – Washington-Virginia District
- 5 Citizen Action of New York
- 6 Civil Rights Project at the University of California – Los Angeles
- 7 Clearinghouse on Women's Issues
- 8 Clergy and Laity United for Economic Justice (CLUE)
- 9 Coalition on Human Needs
- 10 Colorado Center on Law and Policy
- 11 Colorado Children's Campaign
- 12 Common Cause
- 13 Community Service Society of New York
- 14 Crescent City Media Group
- 15 D & R Accounting & Tax Solutions, Inc.
- 16 Delaware Ecumenical Council on Children and Families
- 17 Democracy Forward Foundation
- 18 Dēmos
- 19 Disability Rights Education & Defense Fund (DREDF)
- 20 Empower Missouri
- 21 Equal Justice Society
- 22 Equality California
- 23 Faith in Public Life
- 24 Family Equality Council
- 25 FISH Hospitality Program, Inc.
- 26 Gilmore Memorial Preschool, Inc.
- 27 Hindu American Foundation
- 28 Hispanic Federation

- 1 Hispanic Organization for Leadership & Action (HOLA)
- 2 Holy Spirit Missionary Sisters, USA-JPIC
- 3 Illinois Association of Area Agencies on Aging
- 4 Illinois Coalition for Immigrant and Refugee Rights
- 5 Immigrant Justice Group First Unitarian Denver
- 6 Impact Fund
- 7 In the Public Interest
- 8 Japanese American Citizens League
- 9 Jewish Council for Public Affairs
- 10 Justice in Aging
- 11 Laotian American National Alliance
- 12 Latino Coalition for a Healthy California
- 13 LatinoJustice PRLDEF (Puerto Rican Legal Defense and Education Fund)
- 14 League of Women Voters US
- 15 Legal Aid Justice Center
- 16 Legal Aid Society of the District of Columbia
- 17 Let America Vote
- 18 MinKwon Center for Community Action
- 19 Muslim Public Affairs Council
- 20 NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc.
- 21 National Action Network
- 22 National Asian Pacific American Women's Forum
- 23 National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Inc.
- 24 National Black Justice Coalition
- 25 National Center for Law and Economic Justice
- 26 National Coalition for Literacy
- 27 National Consumers League
- 28 National Council of Jewish Women

- 1 National Employment Law Project
- 2 National Health Law Program
- 3 National Human Services Assembly
- 4 National Immigration Law Center
- 5 National Institute for Reproductive Health (NIRH)
- 6 National LGBTQ Task Force
- 7 National Organization for Women Foundation
- 8 National Partnership for Women & Families
- 9 National Women's Law Center
- 10 N.C. Counts Coalition
- 11 New Jersey Institute for Social Justice
- 12 New York Counts 2020
- 13 New York State Black, Puerto Rican, Hispanic & Asian Legislative Caucus
- 14 North Carolina Asian Americans Together (NCAAT)
- 15 Oasis - A Haven for Women and Children
- 16 Partnership For America's Children
- 17 Paterson Alliance
- 18 Paterson Education Fund
- 19 Paterson Habitat for Humanity
- 20 Passaic County Community College Child Development Center
- 21 People for the American Way Foundation
- 22 PolicyLink
- 23 Protect Democracy
- 24 Public Justice Center
- 25 Research Advisory Services, Inc.
- 26 Rock the Vote
- 27 Service Employees International Union
- 28 SOME, Inc. (So Others Might Eat)

- 1 South Asian Americans Leading Together
- 2 Southeast Michigan Census Council
- 3 Southern Poverty Law Center
- 4 Texas Civil Rights Project
- 5 The Enrichment Center
- 6 The National Urban League
- 7 The Sikh Coalition
- 8 The Southern Coalition for Social Justice
- 9 The Women's Law Center of Maryland
- 10 Theta Delta Sigma Society, Inc.
- 11 Tikkun Olam Chavurah
- 12 UnidosUS
- 13 Union for Reform Judaism
- 14 Unitarian Universalist Fellowship of Hidalgo County
- 15 Virginia Civic Engagement Table
- 16 Wisconsin Faith Voices for Justice
- 17 Women Employed
- 18 Women of Reform Judaism
- 19 Women's Bar Association of the District of Columbia
- 20 YWCA USA

21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28