COMPLAINT
Plaintiffs,

v.

MICHAEL O. LEAVITT, Secretary, United States Department of Health and Human Services, Defendant.

I. INTRODUCTION

1. This is an action against the Secretary of the United States Department of Health and Human Services (“Secretary”), who is responsible for implementing the State Children’s Health Insurance Program at the federal level in a manner consistent with the Social Security Act and the Administrative Procedure Act. Title XXI of the Social Security Act, the State Children’s Health Insurance Program, provides States broad flexibility to design and offer affordable, credible health insurance coverage to children whose families cannot otherwise afford all or part of the cost of the coverage.

2. The plaintiffs are children whose ages range from 5 months to 3½ years old. As a result of rules implemented by the Secretary in August 2007, the plaintiffs have been denied affordable health insurance coverage through the New York State Children’s Health Insurance Program. Without this coverage, it is difficult or impossible for the plaintiffs to obtain necessary health care, including routine check-ups and vaccines, diagnostic tests, prescriptions, and surgical procedures.

3. Plaintiffs allege that the Secretary exceeded his authority when issuing the federal rule because it includes requirements that are inconsistent with the Social Security Act and requirements that were not properly promulgated pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act. Plaintiffs seek declaratory, injunctive, and mandamus relief to stop continued implementation of the unlawful rule.

II. JURISDICTION AND VENUE

4. Jurisdiction is conferred by 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 and 1361. Plaintiffs’ action for declaratory, injunctive relief, and other appropriate relief is authorized by 28 U.S.C. §§ 1651, 2201, and 2202.

5. Venue is proper under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(e).

III. PARTIES

6. Plaintiff Morganne Miles is a 3-year-old child who lives with her parents in Gorham, New York. She appears in this action through her mother, Krystal Titus.

7. Plaintiff Olivia Miles is a 1-year-old infant who lives with her parents in Gorham, New York. She appears in this action through her mother, Krystal Titus.

8. Plaintiff Pascale Mossin is a 2½-year-old infant who lives with her mother in New York, New York. She appears in this action through her mother, Amy Margaret McCutchin.

9. Plaintiff Theo Chan is a 3½ -year-old boy who lives with his parents in Brooklyn, New York. He appears in this action through his father, Sunny Chan.

10. Plaintiff Leah Chan is a 5-month-old infant who lives with her parents in Brooklyn, New York. She appears in this action through his father, Sunny Chan.

11. Defendant Michael O. Leavitt is the Secretary of the United States Department of Health and Human Services (“Department”) and is responsible for administering the Department’s programs consistent with federal law, including the Social Security Act and the Administrative Procedure Act. The Secretary administers the State Children’s Health Insurance Program (“SCHIP”) through the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (“CMS”). Secretary Leavitt is sued in his official capacity.

IV. LEGAL FRAMEWORK

12. The SCHIP is a cooperative federal-state program that entitles States to federal funding when they implement programs that are consistent with the requirements set forth in Title XXI of the Social Security Act (the “SCHIP statute”). See 42 U.S.C. § 1397aa(c).

13. Originally referred to as the Children’s Health Insurance Program, Title XXI was renamed the State Children’s Health Insurance Program, thus emphasizing the States’ broad discretion to establish and operate their programs so long as the programs meet the general requirements of the Act.

14. The purpose of SCHIP is to “provide funds to States to enable them to initiate and expand the provision of child health assistance to uninsured, low-income children in an effective and efficient manner that is coordinated with other sources of health benefits coverage for children.” 42 U.S.C. § 1397aa(a).

15. To participate in SCHIP and receive federal funding, the SCHIP statute requires each participating State to submit a State Child Health Plan (a “State plan”) to the Secretary of the Department. The State plan “sets forth how the State intends to use the funds provided through Title XXI to provide child health assistance to needy children.”

42 U.S.C. § 1397aa(b). The State plan must describe the State’s eligibility standards and methodologies, outreach and coordination efforts, health benefits coverage, and performance measures and goals. 42 U.S.C. §§ 1397bb-1397gg.

16. Consistent with the SCHIP statute, the regulations promulgated by the Department confirm that “[w]ithin broad Federal rules, each State decides eligible groups, types and ranges of services, payment levels for benefit coverage, and administrative and operating procedures.” 42 C.F.R. § 457.1.

17. States can participate in SCHIP by expanding their existing Medicaid programs to additional low-income children and/or by creating new, separate programs. 42 U.S.C. § 1397aa(a). The SCHIP statute provides greater flexibility to States choosing to create separate SCHIP programs, allowing these States to fashion their own SCHIP eligibility requirements and benefit packages within the parameters of Title XXI rather than adhering to stricter Medicaid eligibility and coverage rules. Compare 42 U.S.C. §§ 1397aa-1397jj (SCHIP requirements) with 42 U.S.C. § 1396a-1396v (Medicaid requirements). New York participates in SCHIP and has elected to use a separate program.

18. The SCHIP statute requires states choosing to implement a separate program to include a general description of the State’s eligibility standards and methodologies in the State plan. The SCHIP statute does not define income for purposes of SCHIP eligibility but rather gives each state broad discretion to decide how and what to count as income. Thus, each State can establish eligibility standards and methodologies for defining income that reflect the cost of living in the state, including health care costs. See 42 U.S.C. § 1397bb.

19. The SCHIP statute provides that the State child health plan “shall include a description of procedures to be used to ensure ... that the insurance provided under the State child health plan does not substitute for coverage under group health plans....” 42 U.S.C. §

1397bb(b)(3). The State plan must “include a description” of the extent to which and manner in which low-income and other classes of children have creditable health insurance coverage, current State efforts to provide or obtain creditable health coverage for uncovered children, and how the State plan is designed to be coordinated with such efforts to increase health coverage. Id. at § 1397bb(a).

20. In formulating regulations addressing health coverage, the Department has stated, “States have broad discretion to develop substitution prevention policies that best serve their particular populations.” 66 Fed. Reg. 2490, 2604 (Jan. 11, 2001). The duly promulgated regulations provide that: “A State plan must include a description of—(a) The extent to which, and manner in which, children in the State, ... currently have creditable health coverage...; [and] (b) current State efforts to provide or obtain creditable health coverage for uncovered children,....” 42 C.F.R. § 457.80. In addition, “The State plan must include a description of reasonable procedures to ensure that health benefits coverage provided under the State plan does not substitute for coverage provided under group health plans....” 42 C.F.R. § 457.805.

21. Federal regulations address substitution, sometimes referred to as “crowd out,” in a provision discussing a State’s possible operation of a premium assistance program. 42 C.F.R. § 457.810(a). Under this rule, an enrollee must not have had coverage under group health plan for a period of at least six months prior to enrollment in a premium assistance program. A State may not require a minimum waiting period that exceeds 12 months. States can permit reasonable exceptions to the minimum waiting period, including for involuntary loss of coverage, economic hardship, and a switch to employment that does not offer dependent coverage. Id.

22. Nowhere in the SCHIP statute is there a requirement for a State to obtain or maintain a certain level of private insurance coverage as a condition of establishing or expanding coverage for uninsured children through SCHIP. The provisions of the Social Security Act do not authorize the Secretary to require States to obtain or maintain a certain level of private insurance coverage as a condition of establishing or expanding coverage for uninsured children through SCHIP.

23. According to the SCHIP statute, a State’s eligibility standards “shall, within any defined group of covered targeted low-income children, not cover such children with higher family income without covering children with a lower family income....” 42 U.S.C.

1397bb(b)(1)(B)(i); 42 C.F.R. § 457.320(b)(1) (“In establishing eligibility standards and methodologies, a State may not ... cover children with a higher family income without covering children with a lower family income within any defined group of covered targeted low-income children). In addition, the plan must “include a description of procedures to be used to ensure ... that children found eligible ... under the State Medicaid plan ... are enrolled for such assistance....” 42 U.S.C. § 1397bb(b)(3)(B); 42 C.F.R. § 457.350.

24. Thus, the SCHIP statute requires States to “cover” children in lower income groups before covering children with higher family incomes and to “describe the procedures to be used to ensure that Medicaid-eligible children are “enrolled for such [Medicaid] assistance.” The SCHIP statute does not require, or authorize the Secretary to require, that a certain percentage of those children eligible for coverage accept it before coverage can be offered to children in higher income families. Nor does the SCHIP statute require or authorize the Secretary to require States to enroll a certain percentage of children in Medicaid or SCHIP as a precondition of implementing or expanding SCHIP coverage to children with higher family incomes.

25. The SCHIP statute explicitly gives States that elect to establish separate SCHIPs the discretion whether or not to impose cost sharing. The SCHIP statute provides that a “State child health plan shall include a description, ..., of the amount (if any) of premiums, deductibles, coinsurance, and other cost sharing imposed.” 42 U.S.C. § 1397cc(e)(1)(A).

26. If a State chooses to implement cost sharing, it cannot impose deductibles, coinsurance, or other cost sharing with respect to well baby and child care and immunizations. 42 U.S.C. § 1397cc(e)(2).

27. For children in families with incomes above 150% of the Federal Poverty Level (“FPL”), “any premiums, deductibles, cost sharing or similar charges imposed under the State child health plan may be imposed on a sliding scale related to income, except that the total annual aggregate cost-sharing with respect to all targeted low-income children in a family under this subchapter may not exceed 5 percent of such family’s income for the year involved.” 42 U.S.C. § 1397cc(e)(3)(B).

28. The duly promulgated regulations allow the State to decide whether to impose cost sharing in the SCHIP. 42 C.F.R § 457.510.

29. The Social Security Act does not authorize the Secretary to require states to impose cost sharing, to impose cost sharing that approximates the cost of private coverage, or to impose cost sharing on well baby and child care and immunizations through the SCHIP.

30. The SCHIP statute authorizes the Secretary to require States to collect data and furnish reports to the Secretary in the “standardized format” the Secretary may require to monitor State programs and compare the effectiveness of State plans. 42 U.S.C. § 1397gg(b). Consistent with the SCHIP statute, the federal regulations recognize that the Secretary will obtain data and reports from states using “standardized formats.” 42 C.F.R. § 457.720.

31. The State can amend its State child health plan. 42 U.S.C. § 1397ff(b). The SCHIP statute provides that these amendments “shall be approved” by the Secretary and “shall be effective” on the dates specified in the amendment unless the Secretary finds that the amendment does not “substantially comply” with the requirements of Title XXI. Id. at §§ 1397ff(b)-(e); 42 C.F.R. § 457.65(a)(1) (stating that, in general, “[a] State plan or plan amendment takes effect on the day specified in the plan or plan amendment....”).

32. The right to “alter, amend, or repeal” any provision of Title XXI is reserved to the Congress. 42 U.S.C. § 1304.

V. STATEMENT OF THE FACTS

A. The August 17, 2007 CMS Letter

33. On August 17, 2007, the CMS issued a Dear State Health Official Letter (“the Letter”) informing States of new requirements that CMS would apply when States seek to extend eligibility under SCHIP to children in families with effective family income levels above 250% of the FPL. Letter from Dennis G. Smith, Director, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Center for Medicare & Medicaid Services, to Dear State

Health Official (Aug. 17, 2007).

34. Effective August 17, 2007, the Letter requires these States to “prevent [private] employers from changing dependent coverage policies that would favor a shift to public coverage.” Id. The State must assure CMS that “the number of children in the target population insured through private employers has not decreased by more than two percentage points over the prior five year period.” Id.

35. Effective August 17, 2007, the Letter requires these States to assure CMS that it has “enrolled at least 95 percent of the children in the State below 200 percent of the FPL who are eligible for either SCHIP or Medicaid (including a description of the steps the State takes to enroll these eligible children).” Id.

36. Effective August 17, 2007, the Letter requires these States to implement cost sharing and specifies a complicated formula for how cost sharing must be imposed: “The cost sharing requirement under the State plan compared to the cost sharing required by competing private plans must not be more favorable to the public plan by more than one percent of the family income, unless the public plan’s cost sharing is set at the five percent family cap.” Id. The Letter makes no exceptions for well baby and child care and immunizations.

37. Effective August 17, 2007, the Letter requires these States to implement a waiting period during which children must go without insurance coverage: “The State must establish a minimum of a one year period of uninsurance for individuals prior to receiving coverage.” There are no exceptions to the waiting period that will allow children to obtain protection when, for example, the family has experienced an involuntary loss of private coverage, economic hardship, and/or a switch to a new job that does not offer dependent coverage.

38. Effective August 17, 2007, the Letter requires these States to report on a monthly basis data relating to substitution (also referred to as “crowd-out” in the Letter). Id. The Secretary provides no standard formats for reporting this data.

39. The Letter was not promulgated as a regulation pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. § 553.

B. The New York SCHIP

40. The New York children’s health insurance program was created in 1990. New York State Public Health Law, Article 25, Title 1-A, Child Health Insurance Plan (Ch. 922 and 923 of the Laws of 1990). The program is known as Child Health Plus, or CHPlus.

41. CHPlus was a prototype for the federal SCHIP authorized by Title XXI of the Social Security Act and was approved by the federal government as a SCHIP in 1998.

42. CHPlus does not operate as or include a premium assistance program.

CHPlus administers its program through private insurers, such as Empire Blue Cross Blue Shield and Affinity Health Plan.

43. On or about April 12, 2007, the New York Department of Health filed with CMS a State plan amendment that modified the eligibility standards for its separate SCHIP. One provision included eligibility standards and methodologies such that CHPlus coverage was expanded from the current effective family income level at or below 250% of FPL to a level at or below 400% of the FPL. Another provision implemented a six-month waiting period of prior uninsurance for children in families with incomes above 250% of FPL, with exceptions. The State plan amendment established a September 1, 2007 effective date of the expansion program.

44. On September 7, 2007, CMS notified New York that it would not approve the State plan amendment. Citing the August 17, 2007 Letter, CMS gave three grounds for its decision: (1) The State failed to provide assurances that it had enrolled at least 95% of the children with family incomes below 200% of the FPL; (2) The State did not include a one-year waiting period of uninsurance for populations over 250% of the FPL; (3) The proposed cost sharing did not meet the requirement that cost sharing under the State plan compared to the cost sharing required by competing private plans not be more favorable to the public plan by more than one percent of the family income, nor had the State proposed to set its cost sharing at the 5% family cap. Letter from Kerry Weems, Acting CMS Administrator, to Ms. Judith Arnold, Director, Division of Coverage and Enrollment, State of New York Department of Health (Sept. 7, 2007).

45. Prior to September 7, 2007, CMS had approved State plans from at least 13 other states to extend SCHIP coverage to children with family incomes at or above 250% of the FPL.

C. Effect on the Named Plaintiffs

46. Uninsured children face reduced access to health care, lower quality of care, and often poorer health outcomes than insured children.

47. CHPlus coverage is associated with marked increases in visits to the primary care medical home for preventive, acute and chronic care. CHPlus coverage is associated with higher quality of care, including immunization rates, reliance on the medical home for health care, and compliance with preventive care guidelines.

48. Plaintiff Morganne Miles, age 3, and Olivia Miles, age 1, live with their parents, Krystal Titus and Cory Miles in Gorham, New York.

49. Krystal Titus works full-time as a manager at Wendy's restaurant, and Cory Miles works full-time as a stone fabricator. In 2006, the family's income was approximately $32,991. As of November 2007, the family's income was $33,117. Monthly income fluctuates depending on whether Krystal and Cory can get overtime work. Without overtime, the monthly income is not enough to cover expenses, which include rent, heating and electricity, car payments and insurance, and groceries. The family shops for clothes and shoes at the Salvation Army and cuts back on groceries to try to make ends meet.

50. Plaintiff Morganne Miles was insured through Ms. Titus' employer until January 2007, when the premiums became too expensive. Plaintiff Olivia Miles celebrated her first birthday on December 1, 2007 and lost Medicaid coverage because the eligibility requirements are more restrictive for children over age one.

51. In August 2007, Ms. Titus visited the F.F. Thompson Health Center and was told she could enroll Morganne in CHPlus for a $20 per month premium. She applied and submitted a $20 money order to enroll Morganne. When New York's expansion plan was denied by the federal government, Ms. Titus was informed that she would need to pay a $196 per month premium for Morganne to have health insurance. The family cannot afford to pay the premiums. Plaintiffs Morganne and Olivia Miles are uninsured.

52. Morganne and Olivia Miles need regular check-ups with a pediatrician, and Olivia will soon need another round of childhood vaccines. Olivia has a hernia and may need surgery if the condition does not improve.

53. Plaintiff Pascale Mossin, age 2½, lives with her mother Amy Margaret McCutchin, in New York, New York.

54. Amy McCutchin is a graduate student at New York University. She works part-time jobs to earn income for her daughter and herself. In 2007, her income fluctuated widely based on her ability to work. The family has approximately $3,700 in monthly expenses, including for rent, food, transportation, child care, and health insurance premiums. She has borrowed heavily from her family and friends and has also assumed debt in financial aid for school loans. Ms. McCutchin obtains health insurance through New York University but cannot afford to pay the $380 per month in dependent coverage for Pascale.

55. In mid-August 2007, the Children's Aid Society assisted Ms. McCutchin with applying for CHPlus. She submitted an application and a $20 check for the monthly premium to Empire Blue Cross Blue Shield. In early September, she received a CHPlus insurance card for Pascale from Empire Blue Cross Blue Shield. Thereafter, she received a bill from Empire Blue Cross Blue Shield for $533 as the total amount due for a three month period of insurance, from September through December 2007. Ms. McCutchin went further into debt to pay for the insurance.

56. Plaintiff Theo Chan, age 3½, and Plaintiff Leah Chan, age 4 months, live with their parents, Sunny Chan and Edith Tay, in Brooklyn, New York.

57. The family's net monthly income is approximately $3,890, which must cover all the needs of the two children and their parents. The family has approximately $4,240 in monthly expenses, which include rent; car insurance, maintenance and gas; groceries; and health insurance for Mr. Chan and Ms. Tay. The family has financial debt, including medical debt and is struggling to make payments.

58. Ms. Tay was employed at Gemology Institute of American as a quality control analyst until May 2004, when Theo was born. She left her job to stay at home with Theo and to save money on child care. Mr. Chan is employed full-time with Multicultural Radio Broadcasting. Mr. Chan pays $560 per month for employersponsored insurance for himself and his wife. Mr. Chan is a diabetic, with quarterly outofpocket expenses for special check-ups and monthly expenses for insulin and other diabetic supplies.

59. From 2005 through July 2007, Theo was insured through CHPlus. The Chan family had difficulty making the monthly premium payment of $150, and Theo was uninsured from July 2007 until October 2007.

60. In September 2007, Mr. Chan visited the Children's Aid Society to discuss health insurance for his children. He was told that he could obtain insurance through CHPlus for a $40 per month per child premium, and he immediately wrote a check for this amount. One week later, the Children's Aid Society called Mr. Chan and told him that the monthly premium to cover both children would be $355.

61. Mr. Chan paid to insure Theo and Leah from November 2007-January 2008. The only reason he was able to make the payment was because Ms. Tay had received a one-time check for a recent commercial voiceover job. Mr. Chan does not know how long he will be able to keep up the payments.

62. Plaintiff Theo Chan is an active child who suffers from allergic reactions to foods, but it is not yet known which foods. Leah has developed severe bronchitis and needs asthma medication and a nebulizer to breath. Leah and Theo Chan need routine check-ups and vaccinations.

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Administrative Procedure Act—Exceeding Statutory Authority)

63. Paragraphs 1 through 62 are incorporated by reference herein.

64. The Secretary's August 17, 2007 letter violates the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(A), because it does not comply with the controlling law, 42 U.S.C. §§ 1397aa-jj. The August 17 letter violates the APA, 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(C), because it is in excess of the statutory authorization as set forth in 42 U.S.C. §§ 1397aa-jj.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Administrative Procedure Act—Arbitrary and Capricious Actions)

65. Paragraphs 1 through 64 are incorporated by reference herein.

66. The Secretary's August 17 letter is arbitrary, capricious, an abuse of discretion and, as such, violates the APA, 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(A).

THIRD CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Administrative Procedure Act—Failure in Rule Making)

67. Paragraphs 1 through 66 are incorporated by reference herein.

68. The August 17, 2007 letter represents the promulgation by the Secretary of a new final regulation without a proper notice and comment period and, therefore, without 16 explanation of the comments and of the agency's resolution of the comments. The August 17, 2007, therefore, violates the APA, 5 U.S.C. § 553, and is invalid.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, plaintiffs respectfully ask the Court to:

1. Assume jurisdiction over this case.
2. Declare that the Defendant acted in excess of his statutory jurisdiction, authority, or limitations and thus is in violation of Title XXI of the Social Security Act and the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(C), by issuing the August 17, 2007 letter, which required the States, as a condition of SCHIP State plan amendment approval, to:

- (1) impose cost sharing in approximation to the cost of private coverage;
- (2) prevent employers from changing dependent coverage policies that would favor a shift to private coverage;
- (3) assure that the cost sharing requirement under the State plan compared to the cost sharing required by competing private plans must not be more favorable to the public plan by more than one percent of the family income, unless the public plan's cost sharing is set at the 5% family cap;
- (4) establish a minimum of a one year period of uninsurance for individuals prior to receiving coverage;
- (5) assure that the State has enrolled at least 95% of the children in the State below 200% of the FPL who are eligible for either SCHIP or Medicaid;
- (6) assure that the number of children in the target population insured through private employers has not decreased by more than two percentage points over the prior five year period.

3. Declare that these requirements contained in the Defendant's August 17, 2007 letter are arbitrary, capricious, and an abuse of discretion, or otherwise not in accordance with law, and thus violate Title XXI of the Social Security Act and the Administrative Procedure Act, 5, U.S.C. § 706(2)(A).

4. Declare that the Defendant's August 17, 2007 letter is without legal effect unless and until it is properly and duly promulgated as a final regulation pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. §§ 553(b)-(d).

5. Declare that the Defendant lacks authority to consider the New York State child health plan or State plan amendments based upon the August 17, 2007 letter.

6. Enjoin the Defendant from imposing or continuing to impose any requirement or condition on the approval of New York State plan amendments based on the unlawful criteria contained in the August 17, 2007 letter and remand the State plan amendment to the Defendant with instructions to, within 15 days of the Court's order, complete his review of the State plan amendment consistent with the broad flexibility accorded to the State by Title XXI of the Social Security Act and without regard to the letter of August 17, 2007 that requires States to:

- (1) impose cost sharing in approximation to the cost of private coverage;
- (2) prevent employers from changing dependent coverage policies that would favor a shift to private coverage;
- (3) assure that the cost sharing requirement under the State plan compared to the cost sharing required by competing private plans must not be more favorable to the public plan by more than one percent of the family income, unless the public plan's cost sharing is set at the 5% family cap;

(4) establish a minimum of a one year period of uninsurance for individuals prior to receiving coverage;

(5) assure that the State has enrolled at least 95% of the children in the State below 200% of the FPL who are eligible for either SCHIP or Medicaid;

(6) assure that the number of children in the target population insured through private employers has not decreased by more than two percentage points over the prior five year period.

7. Grant such other relief that this Court finds necessary; and

8. Award Plaintiffs reasonable attorneys' fees and costs.
